Asurion Europe Limited

Strategic report

The directors present their strategic report on the company for the year ended 31 December 2023.

Principal activities and review of the business

Asurion Europe Limited (“the company”) provides value-added services to partner organisations, primarily in the telecommunications sector, by creating, administering and operating mobile device and gadget protection programs for their customers. During the year, the company has continued its efforts to further expand its business in the UK, and also continues to consider opportunities throughout Europe.

Business environment

While smart phone ownership levels in Europe are high and average upgrade times have extended, innovation continues and this drives regular renewal cycles among a significant majority of consumers. The wider gadget market is projected to continue to grow in Europe over the coming years with consumers in all major European markets forecast to spend more on devices. The European telecommunications sector is highly competitive. Many companies offer similar basic coverage, giving rise to aggressive pricing structures, and the need for companies to continue to innovate to remain competitive.

Future developments

The directors are optimistic about the long-term prospects for growth. The company believes it is well-positioned to deliver growth of its active mobile device protection programs, including through expanding the nature of its insurance offerings. It is also confident that it has a proposition that could be attractive to a number of other organisations.

Principal risks and uncertainties

The management of the business, and the execution of the company’s strategy, are subject to a number of risks. The key business risks and uncertainties affecting the company are considered to relate to general market conditions, in particular the increasing cost of living and its impact on consumers’ discretionary spending, and competition from other companies who provide similar services.

These principal risks and uncertainties were managed by a combination of the directors of the company and local management, through regular meetings and the review of key performance indicators.

The directors do not consider the company to be exposed to any significant risks pertaining to either climate change or the conflicts currently taking place across the world.

Key performance indicators

Given the straightforward nature of the business, the company's directors are of the opinion that use of financial key performance indicators, other than turnover and profit before taxation, are not necessary for an understanding of the development, performance or position of the business.

Results

The results of the company for the year ended 31 December 2023 are set out in the financial statements on pages 9 to 31.

Turnover for the year ended 31 December 2023 fell to £16,560,602 (2022: £17,974,186). This is mainly due to a reduction in the income received under the market support agreement entered into with the immediate parent undertaking, Asurion LLC (effective from 1 January 2020) that results in the company receiving an annual income stream.

Cost of sales, excluding exceptional items, for the year ended 31 December 2023 was £11,953,373 (2022: £12,141,003), the decrease being consistent with the decrease in turnover. During the year ended 31 December 2022, there were exceptional costs that amounted to £254,223 comprising an amount relating to a reorganisation initiated by the parent entity that impacted the business globally.

Administrative expenses increased to £3,209,436 for the year ended 31 December 2023 (2022: administrative expenses were £1,435,020). The primary reason for the increase is the weakening of the US Dollar against Sterling during the year, which resulted in the company reporting a significant loss on foreign exchange on its assets denominated in the US Dollar during the course of 2023, whereas in 2022 it had reported a significant gain as a result of a strengthening of the US Dollar against Sterling during the course of that year.

The company has reported a profit before taxation for the year ended 31 December 2023 of £2,190,834 (2022: £4,392,378).

The company retains total shareholder's funds, which was historically (before the commencement of the market support agreement) maintained through the issuance of new ordinary shares to its immediate parent entity that offset the losses that it had incurred. As at 31 December 2023, shareholder's funds amounted to £22,130,433 (2022: £19,514,260).

Going concern

United Kingdom Accounting Standards require the directors to consider the appropriateness of the going concern basis when preparing the financial statements: The directors confirm that they consider that the going concern basis remains appropriate. The directors have taken note of the Financial Reporting Council guidance "Going Concern and Liquidity Risk Guidance for Directors of UK Companies 2009" which requires the reasons for this decision to be explained.

The company meets its day-to-day working capital requirements with the assistance, where needed, of capital contributions made by its immediate parent undertaking, Asurion LLC, which are, as far as possible, funded by way of dividends paid by other group companies operating within Europe. The company's forecasts and projections, taking into account some reasonably possible fluctuations in trading performance to account for uncertainties, show that the company should be able to continue to operate with a similar level of support from Asurion LLC. After making enquiries of management at the global level, the company's directors are satisfied that this level of support (currently provided under the terms of the market support agreement) will continue to be forthcoming. The directors therefore have a reasonable expectation that the company has adequate resources to continue in operational existence for the foreseeable future. The company therefore continues to adopt the going concern basis in preparing its financial statements.

Under that law the directors have prepared the financial statements in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice (United Kingdom Accounting Standards, comprising FRS 102 "The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland", and applicable law).

Under company law, directors must not approve the financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the company and of the profit or loss of the company for that period. In preparing the financial statements, the directors are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- state whether applicable United Kingdom Accounting Standards, comprising FRS 102 have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- make judgements and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the company will continue in business.

The directors are responsible for safeguarding the assets of the company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

The directors are also responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that are sufficient to show and explain the company's transactions and disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the company and enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006.

Independent auditors' report to the members of Asurion Europe Limited

Report on the audit of the financial statements

Opinion

In our opinion, Asurion Europe Limited's financial statements:

- give a true and fair view of the state of the company's affairs as at 31 December 2023 and of its profit and cash flows for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice (United Kingdom Accounting Standards, including FRS 102 "The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland", and applicable law); and
- have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006.

We have audited the financial statements, included within the Report and financial statements (the "Annual Report"), which comprise: the Statement of financial position as at 31 December 2023; the Income statement and Statement of comprehensive income; the Statement of cash flows and the Statement of changes in equity for the year then ended; and the notes to the financial statements, which include a description of the significant accounting policies.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) ("ISAs (UK)") and applicable law. Our responsibilities under ISAs (UK) are further described in the Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Independence

We remained independent of the company in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the UK, which includes the FRC's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements.

Conclusions relating to going concern

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the company's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of at least twelve months from when the financial statements are authorised for issue.

In auditing the financial statements, we have concluded that the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is appropriate.

However, because not all future events or conditions can be predicted, this conclusion is not a guarantee as to the company's ability to continue as a going concern.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the directors with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report.

Reporting on other information

The other information comprises all of the information in the Annual Report other than the financial statements and our auditors' report thereon. The directors are responsible for the other information. Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion or, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in this report, any form of assurance thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify an apparent material inconsistency or material misstatement, we are required to perform procedures to conclude whether there is a material misstatement of the financial statements or a material misstatement of the other information. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report based on these responsibilities.

With respect to the Strategic report and Directors' report, we also considered whether the disclosures required by the UK Companies Act 2006 have been included.

Based on our work undertaken in the course of the audit, the Companies Act 2006 requires us also to report certain opinions and matters as described below.

Strategic report and Directors' report

In our opinion, based on the work undertaken in the course of the audit, the information given in the Strategic report and Directors' report for the year ended 31 December 2023 is consistent with the financial statements and has been prepared in accordance with applicable legal requirements.

In light of the knowledge and understanding of the company and its environment obtained in the course of the audit, we did not identify any material misstatements in the Strategic report and Directors' report.

Responsibilities for the financial statements and the audit

Responsibilities of the directors for the financial statements

As explained more fully in the Statement of directors' responsibilities in respect of the financial statements, the directors are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with the applicable framework and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view. The directors are also responsible for such internal control as they determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the directors are responsible for assessing the company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the directors either intend to liquidate the company or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

Irregularities, including fraud, are instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations. We design procedures in line with our responsibilities, outlined above, to detect material misstatements in respect of irregularities, including fraud. The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud, is detailed below.

Based on our understanding of the company and industry, we identified that the principal risks of non-compliance with laws and regulations related to breaches of UK regulatory principles, such as those governed by the regulatory regime of HMRC, and we considered the extent to which non-compliance might have a material effect on the financial statements. We also considered those laws and regulations that have a direct impact on the financial statements such as Companies Act 2006. We evaluated management's incentives and opportunities for fraudulent manipulation of the financial statements (including the risk of override of controls), and determined that the principal risks were related to the posting of inappropriate transactions to increase the reported profitability of the company. Audit procedures performed by the engagement team included:

- Discussion with management over consideration of known or suspected instances of fraud or non-compliance with laws and regulations;
- Identifying and testing journal entries, in particular any journal entries posted with unusual account combinations; and
- Designing audit procedures to incorporate unpredictability around the nature, timing or extent of our testing.

There are inherent limitations in the audit procedures described above. We are less likely to become aware of instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations that are not closely related to events and transactions reflected in the financial statements. Also, the risk of not detecting a material misstatement due to fraud is higher than the risk of not detecting one resulting from error, as fraud may involve deliberate concealment by, for example, forgery or intentional misrepresentations, or through collusion.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located on the FRC's website at: www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities. This description forms part of our auditors' report.

Use of this report

This report, including the opinions, has been prepared for and only for the company's members as a body in accordance with Chapter 3 of Part 16 of the Companies Act 2006 and for no other purpose. We do not, in giving these opinions, accept or assume responsibility for any other purpose or to any other person to whom this report is shown or into whose hands it may come save where expressly agreed by our prior consent in writing.

Other required reporting

Companies Act 2006 exception reporting

Under the Companies Act 2006 we are required to report to you if, in our opinion:

- we have not obtained all the information and explanations we require for our audit; or
- adequate accounting records have not been kept by the company, or returns adequate for our audit have not been received from branches not visited by us; or
- certain disclosures of directors' remuneration specified by law are not made; or
- the financial statements are not in agreement with the accounting records and returns.

We have no exceptions to report arising from this responsibility.

Asurion Europe Limited

Notes to financial statements

1. General information

Asurion Europe Limited (“the company”) provides value-added services to partner organisations, primarily in the telecommunications sector, by creating, administering and operating mobile device and gadget protection programs for their customers. During the year, the company has continued its efforts to further expand its business in the UK, and also continues to consider opportunities throughout Europe.

The company is a private company limited by shares and is incorporated and domiciled in England. The address of its registered office is Vantage London, Great West Road, Brentford, TW8 9AG.

2. Statement of compliance

The individual financial statements of Asurion Europe Limited have been prepared in compliance with United Kingdom Accounts Standards, including Finance Reporting Standard 102, “The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland” (“FRS 102”) and the Companies Act 2006.

3. Summary of significant accounting policies

The principal accounting policies applied in the preparation of these financial statements are set out below. These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated.

(a) Basis of preparation

These financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis, under the historical cost convention.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with FRS 102 requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires management to exercise its judgement in the process of applying the company’s accounting policies. The areas involving a higher degree of judgement or complexity, or areas where assumptions and estimates are significant to the financial statements are disclosed in note 4.

3. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

(b) Going concern

United Kingdom Accounting Standards require the directors to consider the appropriateness of the going concern basis when preparing the financial statements. The directors confirm that they consider that the going concern basis remains appropriate. The directors have taken note of the Financial Reporting Council guidance "Going Concern and Liquidity Risk Guidance for Directors of UK Companies 2009" which requires the reasons for this decision to be explained.

The company meets its day-to-day working capital requirements with the assistance, where needed, of capital contributions made by its immediate parent undertaking, Asurion LLC, which are, as far as possible, funded by way of dividends paid by other group companies operating within Europe. The company's forecasts and projections, taking into account some reasonably possible fluctuations in trading performance to account for uncertainties, show that the company should be able to continue to operate with a similar level of support from Asurion LLC. After making enquiries of management at the global level, the company's directors are satisfied that this level of support (currently provided under the terms of the market support agreement) will continue to be forthcoming. The directors therefore have a reasonable expectation that the company has adequate resources to continue in operational existence for the foreseeable future. The company therefore continues to adopt the going concern basis in preparing its financial statements.

(c) Foreign currency

(i) Functional and presentation currency

These financial statements are presented in Pound Sterling, which was also the functional currency for all of the company's operations during 2022 and 2023.

(ii) Transactions and balances

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency using the spot exchange rates at the dates of the transactions (which are approximated with average monthly rates).

At each period end foreign currency monetary items are translated using the closing rate. Non-monetary items measured at historical cost are translated using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction (which are approximated with average monthly rates).

Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of transactions and from the translation at period-end exchange rates of monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are recognised in the profit and loss account within other operating expenses.

3. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

(iii) Translation

The trading results of the foreign branches are translated into the presentation currency using the average exchange rate for the period. The assets and liabilities of those branches are translated at the rate ruling at the period end. Exchange adjustments arising from the retranslation of opening reserves and from the translation of the profits/losses at average rates are recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity within the foreign exchange reserve.

Exchange differences arising on a monetary item that forms part of the net investment in a foreign branch are recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity within the foreign exchange reserve. Such monetary items are considered to include long-term receivables for which settlement is neither planned nor likely to occur in the foreseeable future.

(d) Revenue recognition

The company generates turnover through the provision of agent and programme administrative services for which it has the contractual right to receive a fixed amount from the underlying insurance premiums received each month. These administrative fees are recognised as turnover, on a monthly basis, with the amount recognised each month being determined by the underlying number of customers in each mobile device protection programme. This is considered to result in revenue being recognised in the accounting period in which the services are rendered.

Income received by the company under the terms of a market support agreement is calculated based on specific contractual terms that reference income and profit measures in specific periods, and it is recognised in the same accounting period to which those income and profit measures relate.

(e) Exceptional items

Exceptional items are disclosed separately in the financial statements where it is necessary to do so to provide further understanding of the financial performance of the group. They are items that are material either because of their size or their nature, or that are non-recurring. They are presented within the line items to which they best relate.

3. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

(f) Employee benefits

(i) Short-term benefits

Short-term benefits, including holiday pay and other similar non-monetary benefits, are recognised as an expense in the period in which the service is rendered. The company's holiday year is co-terminus with its financial year and the company requires its employees to use earned holiday time by the end of each holiday year. Therefore, no holiday pay accrual is required.

(ii) Defined contribution pension plans

The company operates a defined contribution plan for its employees. A defined contribution plan is one where the company pays fixed contributions across, in this case, to a specialist pension provider for investment in their independently administered funds. Once the contributions have been paid the company has no further payment obligations. The contributions are recognised as an expense when they are due. Amounts not yet paid are shown in accruals in the balance sheet.

(iii) Annual bonus plan

The company operates an annual bonus plan for employees. An expense is recognised in the profit and loss account when the company has a legal or constructive obligation to make payments under the plan as a result of past events and a reliable estimate of the obligation can be made.

(iv) Share-based payments

The company's employees are also employees of the ultimate parent undertaking, Asurion Group, Inc., and participate in Asurion Group, Inc.'s share-based compensation plan. The company does not have a separate employee equity compensation plan. Asurion Group, Inc. allocates share-based compensation to the company for the relevant employees.

Under its share-based compensation plan, Asurion Group, Inc. has issued both service and performance-based options. The service-based options granted generally vest over five years, with 20% vesting upon the first anniversary of the vesting commencement date and 1/60th vesting at the end of each full month thereafter. Performance-based options vest depending upon achievement of specific annual earnings targets. All options granted under the plan generally expire ten years from the date of the grant.

The company determines the expense for service-based options based on the grant date fair value of the options. For performance-based share options, the company determines the expense based on the fair value of the options at the end of the reporting period, with a corresponding entry recorded in equity. A Black-Scholes option pricing model is used to determine the fair value of share option awards. Compensation expense for such share option awards is recognised on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period of the agreement unless the award contains a performance condition, in which case, the company records the compensation expense on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period for each separately vesting portion of the award when achievement of the related performance criteria is considered probable.

Asurion Group, Inc. has an annual recharge policy in place under which, at its discretion, it can charge its subsidiaries for the amount its employees benefit upon exercise or repurchase of share options during that calendar year. Such charges are recorded as a debit entry in equity.

The employer taxes (primarily social security contributions) payable in connection with the grant of share options are considered an integral part of the grant itself, and the charge is treated as a cash-settled transaction and therefore is accrued over the vesting period. Where Asurion Group, Inc. makes a contribution towards the costs of employer taxes on share options, this is treated as a capital contribution.

(g) Other operating income

Other operating income comprises revenue from all other operating activities which are not related to the principal activities of the company.

(h) Taxation

The taxation expense for the period comprises current and deferred tax recognised in the reporting period. Tax is recognised in the profit and loss account, except to the extent that it relates to items recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity. In this case tax is also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity respectively.

(i) Current tax

Current tax is the amount of income tax payable in respect of the taxable profit for the year or prior years. Tax is calculated on the basis of tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the period end.

Management periodically evaluates positions taken in UK tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulation is subject to interpretation. It establishes provisions where appropriate on the basis of amounts expected to be paid to the tax authorities.

(ii) Deferred tax

Deferred tax arises from timing differences between taxable profits and total comprehensive income as stated in the financial statements. These timing differences arise from the inclusion of income and expenses in tax assessments in periods different from those in which they are recognised in financial statements.

Deferred tax is recognised in respect of all timing differences that have originated but not reversed at the balance sheet date where transactions or events have occurred at that date that will result in an obligation to pay more, or a right to pay less or to receive more tax, with the exception that deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that the directors consider that it is more likely than not that there will be suitable taxable profits from which the future reversal of the underlying timing differences can be deducted.

Deferred tax is measured on an undiscounted basis at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the periods in which timing differences reverse, based on tax rates and laws enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date.

In response to the Pillar Two model rules published by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD)/G20, the IASB issued amendments to IAS 12 'Income Taxes', introducing a mandatory temporary exception to the requirements of IAS 12, whereby a company does not recognise or disclose the effects of deferred tax assets and liabilities related to Pillar Two. This exception was also adopted by the Financial Reporting Council within its FRS 102 guidance. The Company has applied the exception, and, therefore, will not recognise any Pillar Two model rule effects within its deferred tax assets and liabilities.

(i) Tangible fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation. Cost includes the original purchase price and costs directly attributable to bringing the asset to its working condition for its intended use.

(i) Depreciation

Depreciation is provided on all tangible fixed assets, using the straight-line method, to write off the cost, less estimated residual value, over its expected useful life as follows:

Leasehold improvements	over the period of the non-cancellable lease.
Furniture and fixtures	over the shorter period of the life of the asset or the non-cancellable lease.
IT hardware & systems	over a period of three years.

The carrying values of tangible fixed assets are reviewed for impairment when events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying value may not be recoverable.

(ii) Assets in the course of construction

Assets in the course of construction are stated at cost. These assets are not depreciated. Once they come into use, they are transferred into the appropriate category of tangible fixed asset and depreciation is commenced.

(j) Leased assets

At inception the company assesses agreements that transfer the right to use assets. The assessment considers whether the arrangement is, or contains, a lease (based on the substance of the arrangement).

Leases that do not transfer all the risks and rewards of ownership are classified as operating leases. Payments under operating leases are charged in the profit and loss account on a straight-line basis over the period of the lease.

(k) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents includes cash in hand, deposits held at call with banks and other short-term highly liquid investments with an original or remaining maturity at date of purchase of three months or less.

(l) Provisions and contingencies

(i) Provisions

A provision is recognised when the company has a legal or constructive obligation as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle these obligations and the amount of the obligation can be estimated reliably.

Provisions are measured at the present value of the expenditures expected to be required to settle the obligation using a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the obligation. The increase in a provision due to passage of time is recognized as a finance cost.

(ii) Contingencies

Contingent liabilities are not recognised. Contingent liabilities arise as a result of past events when (i) it is not probable that there will be an outflow of resources or that the amount cannot be reliably measured at the reporting date or (ii) when the existence will be confirmed by the occurrence or non-occurrence of uncertain future events not wholly within the company's control. Contingent liabilities are disclosed in the financial statements unless the probability of an outflow of resources is remote.

Contingent assets are not recognised. Contingent assets are disclosed in the financial statements when an inflow of economic benefits is probable.

(m) Financial instruments

The company has chosen to adopt the Sections 11 and 12 of FRS 102 in respect of financial instruments.

(i) Financial assets

Basic financial assets, including trade and other receivables and cash and bank balances are initially recognised at transaction price, unless the arrangement constitutes a financing transaction (of which there are currently none).

Financial assets are de-recognised when (a) the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire or are settled, or (b) substantially all the risks and rewards of the ownership of the asset are transferred to another party or (c) despite having retained some significant risks and rewards of ownership, control of the asset has been transferred to another party who has the practical ability to unilaterally sell the asset to an unrelated third party without imposing additional restrictions.

(m) Financial instruments (continued)

(ii) Financial liabilities

Basic financial liabilities, including trade and other payables, are initially recognised at transaction price, unless the arrangement constitutes a financing transaction (of which there are currently none).

Trade payables are obligations to pay for goods or services that have been acquired in the ordinary course of business from suppliers. Accounts payable are classified as current liabilities if payment is due within one year or less. If not, they are presented as non-current liabilities.

Financial liabilities are de-recognised when the liability is extinguished, that is when the contractual obligation is discharged, cancelled or expires.

(n) Share capital

Ordinary shares are classified as equity. Any incremental costs directly attributable to the issue of new ordinary shares or options are shown in equity as a deduction, net of tax, from the proceeds.

(o) Distributions to equity holders

Dividends and other distributions to company's shareholders are recognized as a liability in the financial statements in the period in which the dividends and other distributions are approved by the company's shareholders. These amounts are recognized in the statement of changes in equity.

(p) Related party transactions

The company discloses transactions with related parties which are not wholly owned within the same group. It does not disclose transactions with its parent or with members of the same group that are wholly owned.

4. Critical accounting judgements and estimation uncertainty

Estimates and judgements are continually evaluated and are based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

Critical accounting estimates and assumptions

(i) Measurement of accruals and provisions

The company has made an estimation of the value of some of the amounts included within accruals and deferred income and provision for other liabilities. When assessing what the value of these accruals and provisions should be the company has considered factors including historical experience.

(ii) Measurement of the deferred tax asset

The company has made an estimation of the value of the tax losses that are expected to be utilised in the foreseeable future by way of forecasting what its taxable profits will be for the coming five years. When producing these forecasts, the company has considered factors such as historical experience and 2023 results to date.

5. Turnover

Total tax credit for the year	419,858	1,327,042

The UK standard rate of corporation tax is 23.50% for the year ended 31 December 2023 (2022: 19%). On 3 March 2021, the Chancellor announced in his budget speech that there is a planned increase in the rate of Corporation Tax from 19% to 25% with effect from 1 April 2023. As a result, deferred tax is provided at 25% on timing differences.

The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD)/G20 has issued Pillar Two model rules introducing a new global minimum tax of 15% intended to be effective on 1 January 2024. The Company is a part of multinational enterprise subject to the Pillar Two rules as currently designed, and the multinational enterprise has modeled the impacts of the rules as currently promulgated and does not expect the implementation of Pillar Two to materially increase its global tax costs.

On 11 July 2023, Pillar Two was enacted within the United Kingdom through the UK Finance Act (No. 2) 2023, with an effective date of 1 January 2024. As part of its worldwide modeling, the Company has considered its impacts to tax costs within the United Kingdom, and does not expect a material impact due to local statutory income tax rates in excess of the 15% global minimum tax rate.

There is no expiry date on timing differences, unused tax losses or tax credits.
